Cul De Sac, 2025

I can't help but sympathize
I want to row from heel to toe in other's shoes
Enough times that they emphasize both our soles
I dream to explore beyond the shelter
The rules make it so hard for me to understand myself
I want to flirt with the enemy
I still remember your shirt with Dorothy's slippers
You warned me I can use my power for good, or evil
Promises I made in bad faith
The guilt makes me round
Like children's scissors
But scissors nonetheless
